TRAINING SCHOOL GRADUATES FOUR

Commencement Exercises of Retreat for the Sick Held Last Night.

Seated on the stage behind banks of dull-red autumn leaves and ferns, the graduating class of the Retreat for the Sick Training School enjoyed last night the public recognition that follows the successful completion of three years' hard work, in the auditorium of the Elks' Club at the commencement exercises of the evening. The chairs were hastily removed from the floor, and while the orchestra played in a corner, the young nurses, medical students, internes and friends turned the commencement into a dance.

The senior class of 1932 is composed of the following four young women, who received their diplomas and pins last night: Miss Margaret J. Nichols, Miss Lottie Danner, Miss Ellen Deeds and Miss May Silling. They have all gone through the three years of training in the hospital wards of the Retreat for the Sick. On the stage with the graduates were the speakers of the evening.

VIRGINIA GIVES NEARLY $24,000

May Have Paid More Than Full Quota to Wilson Campaign Fund.

Virginia gave a total of $23,916 to the campaign fund of the Democratic National Committee, according to a telegram sent yesterday from Treasurer Morgenthau to John Stewart Bryan, chairman of the finance committee for Wilson.

Mr. Bryan thinks that this State raised full quota of $25,000, only a little more than $1,000 remaining unaccounted for. There may be small sums which had not reached Treasurer Morgenthau yesterday, and funds may have gone in other channels, which would have more than made up the quota. At all events, the sum is a good one, and Mr. Bryan is pleased that the State of Governor Wilson's birth should have responded so well to the call to help the campaign.

The records of Mr. Bryan show a total of $23,916. The State of Virginia has paid the balance of $139.92 should be credited. The districts paid as follows, according to his books:

Districts.	Remitted through J. S. Bryan, direct to headqrs.	Remitted to Asylum.

The lunacy commission which sat yesterday to decide the sanity of Walter Lewis, the negro man found sleeping on Sheriff Ford's farm, in Henric County, on Tuesday, decided that he should be remanded to the Petersburg asylum. Lewis had been in that institution previous to this time, but was released and placed under the care of his daughter. He escaped from her guardianship and started an excursion of his own, on which he was apprehended.

The commission was composed of Magistrate H. S. Sunday and Dr. J. Palmer Bright and Dr. A. L. Martin.

Mr. Saunders is food commissioner, and as such may be supposed to be interested in seeing that the people have an ample supply of something to eat. Porcupines have never before been regarded as a staple article of diet in this State. Indeed, the oldest inhabitant cannot recall that one was ever seen in the borders of the Old Dominion. Mr. Saunders' experiment in raising the new kind of meat may have something to do with a settlement of the high cost of living question.

All speculations aside, there was a porcupine and now there is none. Some men engaged themselves in the thrilling pursuit of possum hunting on Commissioner Saunders' place. The dogs treed an animal supposed to be of the variety sought, and one of the men climbed the tree to secure the prey. The owner having decreed that trees were not to be cut down at such times.

Unlike possums, the animal led the attack. He did not wait for the Franklin citizen to reach him, but backed down the trunk with rapidity. Fully he switched his big and muscular tail, covered with quills, against his assailant. The man, who had reached up to secure what he thought was a possum, had his fingers pierced through and through. He retreated rapidly, reaching the ground in extreme haste. He hurriedly informed his companion that they had treed a bear by mistake.

Presently their souls grew stronger, hesitating then no longer, they procured a pole and poked the animal out of the tree. He reached the ground and was set upon by a dog, much to the immediate regret of the gamblers. He howled for two hours, and registered many snarls not to do it again.

The men speedily shot the animal to death, and bore him home in triumph. He weighed something like forty pounds. Mr. Saunders saw it was a porcupine, and removed sufficient of his anatomy to prove his case.

ROBERT WHITTET GETS LONG TERM

Members of Administrative Board Settle Length of Service.

In the drawing for terms of the first Administrative Board yesterday, former Alderman Robert Whittet, Jr., drew the four-year term. State Senator E. C. Folkes and Building Inspector H. P. Beck each drew three-year terms, and the two-year terms fell to former Mayor Carlisle and former Councilman John Hirschberg. The drawing, it is believed, will have some bearing on the selection of chairman of the new board, friends of Mr. Whittet having urged him as the logical man for the position. It may also have some result on the campaign two years hence. Several of the defeated candidates in the recent primary are known to desire another trial of strength before the people, and the relative strength of the incumbents is a matter for consideration.

One of the features of this visit will be a reception on the city's part at the Blues' Armory. Captain James H. Price called attention to the City Auditorium, with a reception. FRETFUL PORCUPINE KILLED IN VIRGINIA

Interesting Discovery Regarding His Method of Defense Made by Franklin Citizens. Leaves Black Plume as Token.

Bearing a bunch of quills, which, until Tuesday were upon a fretful porcupine, State Dairy and Food Commissioner Saunders came back to his office at the Capitol yesterday from his home and voting place in Franklin County.

Said porcupine breathed his very last on Mr. Saunders' farm on the day when the commissioner's brother, Judge Edward W. Saunders, was re-elected to Congress by a majority so big that it has not yet been counted. His death was contemporaneous with that of the Republican party in the Fifth District of Virginia.

Mr. Saunders is food commissioner, and as such may be supposed to be interested in seeing that the people have an ample supply of something to eat. Porcupines have never before been regarded as a staple article of diet in this State. Indeed, the oldest inhabitant cannot recall that one was ever seen in the borders of the Old Dominion. WILSON VICTORY TO BE CELEBRATED

President-Elect Himself May Be at Richmond's Jollification.

CITY COMMITTEE STARTS IT

Everybody in Virginia Asked to Help in Big Time in December.

Plans for a State-wide celebration of the national Democratic victory in Virginia, with Governor Wilson himself as the central figure, were inaugurated last night at the meeting of the City Democratic Committee. City Chairman Miles A. Martin was instructed to appoint any and all committees necessary to carry out the idea, to associate in the movement all civic bodies, to enlist the aid of State authorities and to invite all citizens and villages in Virginia to come to Richmond and join in the fun. A big scale will be followed throughout.

As President-elect Wilson will be in Richmond the first week in December in attendance on the Conference of Governors, it was thought to be a good idea to have a big jollification in the American national idea and to hold in December 2, before the Governors' meeting opens, or it may be deferred until Friday, December 9, after the other ceremonies attendant on the visit are concluded.

Starts the Ball. Frank Ferrantini broached the project to the City Committee, and thought it but right that some sort of celebration be held in honor of the election of a Virginian to the presidency of the American nation. The idea was held in Richmond, the capital of the State of Wilson's birth, and it should be the right sort of a celebration, something genuine and something to be remembered by the youngest child until his dying day. He named no day, but moved simply that the committee get up a celebration.

Everybody caught on the idea with gusto. Torlighters were discussed, and the older members of the committee went back to Democratic celebrations of former times to recall what had been done in that misty past when the Democrats had elected a President.

Ask Stanton Here. Captain James H. Price called attention to the City Auditorium, with a reception. Governor and Mrs. Wilson and their three daughters will be guests of Governor and Mrs. Mann at the Executive Mansion during the conference of the features of this visit will be a reception on the city's part at the Blues' Armory.

The tentative proposition is to have an address by the next President in the City Auditorium, with a reception. Governor and Mrs. Wilson and their three daughters will be guests of Governor and Mrs. Mann at the Executive Mansion during the conference of the features of this visit will be a reception on the city's part at the Blues' Armory.

TRAYLOR ARRESTED

Former County Deputy Sheriff Accused of Arsoning Warehouse.

Frank Traylor, former deputy sheriff of Henric County, was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging him with making an improper remark to Mrs. Maria Wilson, who was visiting in the city. The alleged offense is said to have been committed last Wednesday, but Traylor, who is now engaged in the real estate business, denied the charge.

Mrs. Wilson swore out the warrant Wednesday afternoon. When passing Ninth and Main streets, Traylor was informed by Traffic Officer Bernstein that a warrant had been issued for his arrest. Traylor immediately went to the Police Station, where he was immediately bailed for his appearance in Police Court this morning.

SELLS WHISKEY

Uncle Sam to Dispose of 710 Gallons of Fire Water.

Seven hundred and ten gallons of whiskey, confiscated by the agents of the United States Collector of Internal Revenue, will be put up at auction Tuesday morning at noon in the Virginia Bonded Warehouse, along with 20 pounds of cottonseed meal. The goods are divided into a number of packages, each of which will be sold to the highest bidder.

The 710 gallons of third-rail whiskey are the proceeds of recent raids by revenue officers on distilleries which have been guilty of violation of the internal revenue laws. The officers of this district recently completed a cleaning-up process that shut down most of the distilleries in the district.

In addition to the whiskey and oleomargarine mentioned above, there is a copper brassy nail, capacity ninety gallons, which will be auctioned off.

ARRESTED FOR ROBBERY

Fifteen-Year-Old Boy Accused of Stealing Goods from Foodler's Cart.

Boyle Bennett, a fifteen-year-old boy, of 221 Gilbert Street, was arrested yesterday by Bicycle Policeman Traylor on a warrant charging him with entering a stable at 301 South Belvidere Street and stealing a quantity of groceries and vegetables from a wagon owned by S. F. Ford, a peddler, of Ashland.

Bennett, who was employed as a helper by Ford, denied the charge, but some of the alleged stolen property is said to have been found at his home. The robbery took place Thursday afternoon in the Juvénile Court.

CITY COMMITTEE RETAINS MONEY

Refuses to Return Any Part of Administrative Board Entrance Fees.

CANDIDATES WERE PRESENT

Lively Debate Before Carrington Motion Refusing Petition Was Adopted.

By a vote of fifteen to ten, the City Democratic Committee last night refused to return to candidates for the Administrative Board in the recent primary any part of their entrance fees. A request for such refund was made by ten of the eleven men who met in that race. One, Marx Gunst, declined to sign the petition, having played the game and lost, and being willing to pocket his losses.

Six of the defeated ones appeared before the committee when it met last night at Murphy's Hotel, and presented the petition. They were Edgar H. Fergusson, A. W. Bennett, William H. Zimmerman, Graham B. Hobson, George Paul and John W. Moore. The other signers were Charles E. Richards, Charles F. Taylor, George B. Davis and W. P. Knowles.

Their petition set forth the fact that they had paid $250 each to become candidates in the primary of September 13. This made total receipts for the sixteen candidates of $4,000. It was stated that the cost of the primary did not exceed $1,000, which would leave some $3,000. Agreeing the committee should have some money for campaign purposes, the petitioners thought part should be returned to them. They asked for $150 each.

Opposes Refund. Dr. Charles V. Carrington then presented the following resolution, which was finally adopted:

Whereas all candidates in the primary for the selection of nominees for the Administrative Board voluntarily entered the contest, without solicitation; and

Whereas the City Democratic Committee fixed the assessment on the various candidates at the sum required to be paid into the treasury of the city under the Byrd law; and

Whereas by entertaining the petition filed with this committee by the defeated candidates in said primary a precedent would be set, throwing open all primaries held by the City Democratic Committee to the City Democratic Committee, with the tacit understanding that a part, if not all, of the assessments for said primary would be returned to them, the natural consequence being that every primary would be reduced to a game of chance, where the defeated man, if he lost the office, would get back his deposit.

Resolved, That the request embodied in the petition of Messrs. Fergusson, Zimmerman and others be refused.

Would Return $100 Each. As a substitute, W. B. Jennings moved that the prayer of the petitioners be granted. Later he withdrew the motion of a substitute by J. M. Blanks, that each should be given $100, including those elected. Mr. Blanks thought the committee owed it to the candidates to give back part of the money.

Mr. Jennings said it would only be a matter of time until the committee would be legislated entirely out of business unless they would agree to this proposition. He thought it a hold-up game on the candidates.

Replying to these arguments, Dr. Carrington contended that the committee had only charged the candidates what they would have been required to pay under the Byrd law had there not been two primaries in advance of this election, and that they had no right to complain. They could have under no money back from the city under these circumstances.

Clyde W. Saunders also spoke against the Blanks substitute.

Vote Against Whiskey. C. W. Hodges made a remarkable speech. He would vote to give the money back, he said, but hoped the motion would be lost. This was because he thought there was a public demand that it be returned, while personally he did not want to do it. He would vote "aye" on the substitute as a representative.

Other members of the committee thought the candidates were not game in going into the fight and then coming around and asking for their money back after the game. Secretary Walter D. Duke also opposed repayment.

On a recorded vote, the Blanks substitute was lost ten to fifteen votes, and the Carrington motion was adopted.

The candidates who presented the petition then left the room. Mr. Hobson remarking that he would be glad to have the floor for a few moments.

DRAINAGE HELPS PUBLIC HEALTH

Sanitation as Well as Material Prosperity Comes From Reclamation.

Enthusiasm for the cause of reclamation, from the standpoints of health and of commercial prosperity, was shown at the annual meeting of the Virginia Drainage Association held yesterday at noon in the hall of the House of Delegates. It was made evident that the movement has but just begun.

All the officers were re-elected, as follows: Roosevelt Page, of Hanover, president; Dr. D. W. Starbuck, of Henric, vice-president; William W. Old, Jr., of Norfolk, vice-president; Charles A. Miller, of Richmond, secretary; A. A. Wendel, of Norfolk County, treasurer. Executive Committee: James G. Tinsley, of Henric; J. B. Bradley, of Hanover; R. R. Randolph, of Norfolk County; C. A. Baum, of Prince George; W. H. Weiss, of Greensville; James Bellwood, of Chesterfield; W. T. Rudd, of Powhatan; L. M. Nance, of Mecklenburg; M. V. Bollinger, of Amelia.

President's Address. President Roosevelt Page, in his annual address spoke as follows: "There is a maxim of the common law: 'Water runs and should run.' This is the basis of this association, and upon it rest many of our duties which we must make the enjoyment of life. After good character, good health is perhaps the best of God's gifts, and nothing can add more to the healthfulness of many communities than the drainage of the lands which harbor the untold ills using the common name of malaria."

The draining of the Pontine marshes by the Roman government ranks with the roads they built and laws they passed. In our own country the question has of late begun to receive the interest it deserves, and though the question of health may by some be deemed secondary to the commercial value of the reclaimed area, that question is one that will always appeal to the citizens of any community interested in its welfare.

Government Helps. "Our law has been so considerate of the conditions in Virginia as to prescribe in detail the manner in which any community may proceed for the betterment of its conditions, and in the past years the department of the Federal government having duties and equipment related to this work, has rendered assistance in the surveying and platting of certain areas of reclaimed swamp and marsh land—notably in the Chickahominy and parts of the Dismal Swamp section."

Mr. Page then explained the working of the statute. George M. Warren, drainage engineer for the Department of Agriculture, who directed the recent survey of the overflowed lands of the Chickahominy, made an address which was received with pleasure by all. A motion was adopted thanking him, and asking that the speech be published. It will also be produced in the bulletins of the Department of Agriculture.

Capital Ready to Help. Vice-President Starbuck called the attention of the meeting to the remarkable showing made by North Carolina, where more than fifty drainage districts have already been organized under a law similar to the Virginia statute. He impressed his hearers that the time has arrived for Virginia to take a forward step in this line of progress, improvement and material development. Plenty of capital, said Colonel Old, is now ready to undertake drainage, with the full realization that the public good will be promoted, roads improved, and large areas reclaimed that are now both impossible and inaccessible, the whole meaning additional wealth to the State and good profits to those whose energy and capital have made the same practicable. He added that the law is ample, all interests being protected, and that the bonds issued by drainage districts in North Carolina are now selling above par.

Short addresses were also made by Vice-President Starbuck, the prime mover in the Chickahominy Drainage Association, which will hold its meeting this morning at 11 o'clock at Murphy's Hotel. It is hoped to launch a move for reclamation at this time.

Trustee's Auction Sale. The real estate auctioneer of Harrison & Bates conducted a trustee's auction sale at the Real Estate Exchange at noon yesterday. The attendance was good and the bidding was brisk. A good deal of property was disposed of.

Failed to Pay License. For failing to pay his State license tax B. F. Nichols, a merchant, was fined $20 and costs yesterday by a jury in the Hustings Court.
